New Trends in Transit-Oriented-Development Breakfast Meeting

(Reconnecting America, 1707 L Street NW, Suite 210, Washington, DC 20036)

*Transportation is one of the key areas where cities have the direct ability to influence sustainable development. Through TOD projects, transportation officials are transforming once sprawling and unsustainable 20th century cities into livable and economically competitive 21st century cities. This breakfast meeting will highlight new TOD trends, including passenger rail station area development, and a review of federal, state, and local programs that fund TOD projects.
