Moving San Antonio
Urban Street Design Roadshow

Join the City of San Antonio, NACTO, and your peers in creating world-class streets.

Cities around the country have shown that streets can be changed. San Antonio is stepping up to the challenge of transforming its streets, block by block, into safe and active public spaces that prioritize people and link neighborhoods to the city. With major bond investments coming, San Antonio is at an inflection point. The opportunity to set its core streets on a new path is at hand.

This NACTO Urban Street Design Roadshow convenes local staff and decision-makers with national experts from successful peer cities to seize this opportunity. Over two days, the Roadshow will connect planners, engineers, elected officials, and stakeholders with the NACTO network to build new knowledge and momentum for reimagining San Antonio’s streets.

NACTO thanks its partners, the City of San Antonio as well as VIA Metropolitan Transit, for their hard work and support in bringing the Urban Street Design Roadshow to San Antonio.
