

Louisville

the northernmost southern city and the southernmost northern city

Hey, y'all!

Nestled in the heart of the Ohio River Valley, Louisville is a vibrant and growing city with a rich history and culture.

We are working to expand our active and sustainable transportation programs, and we're committed to improving the lives of all Louisvillians.

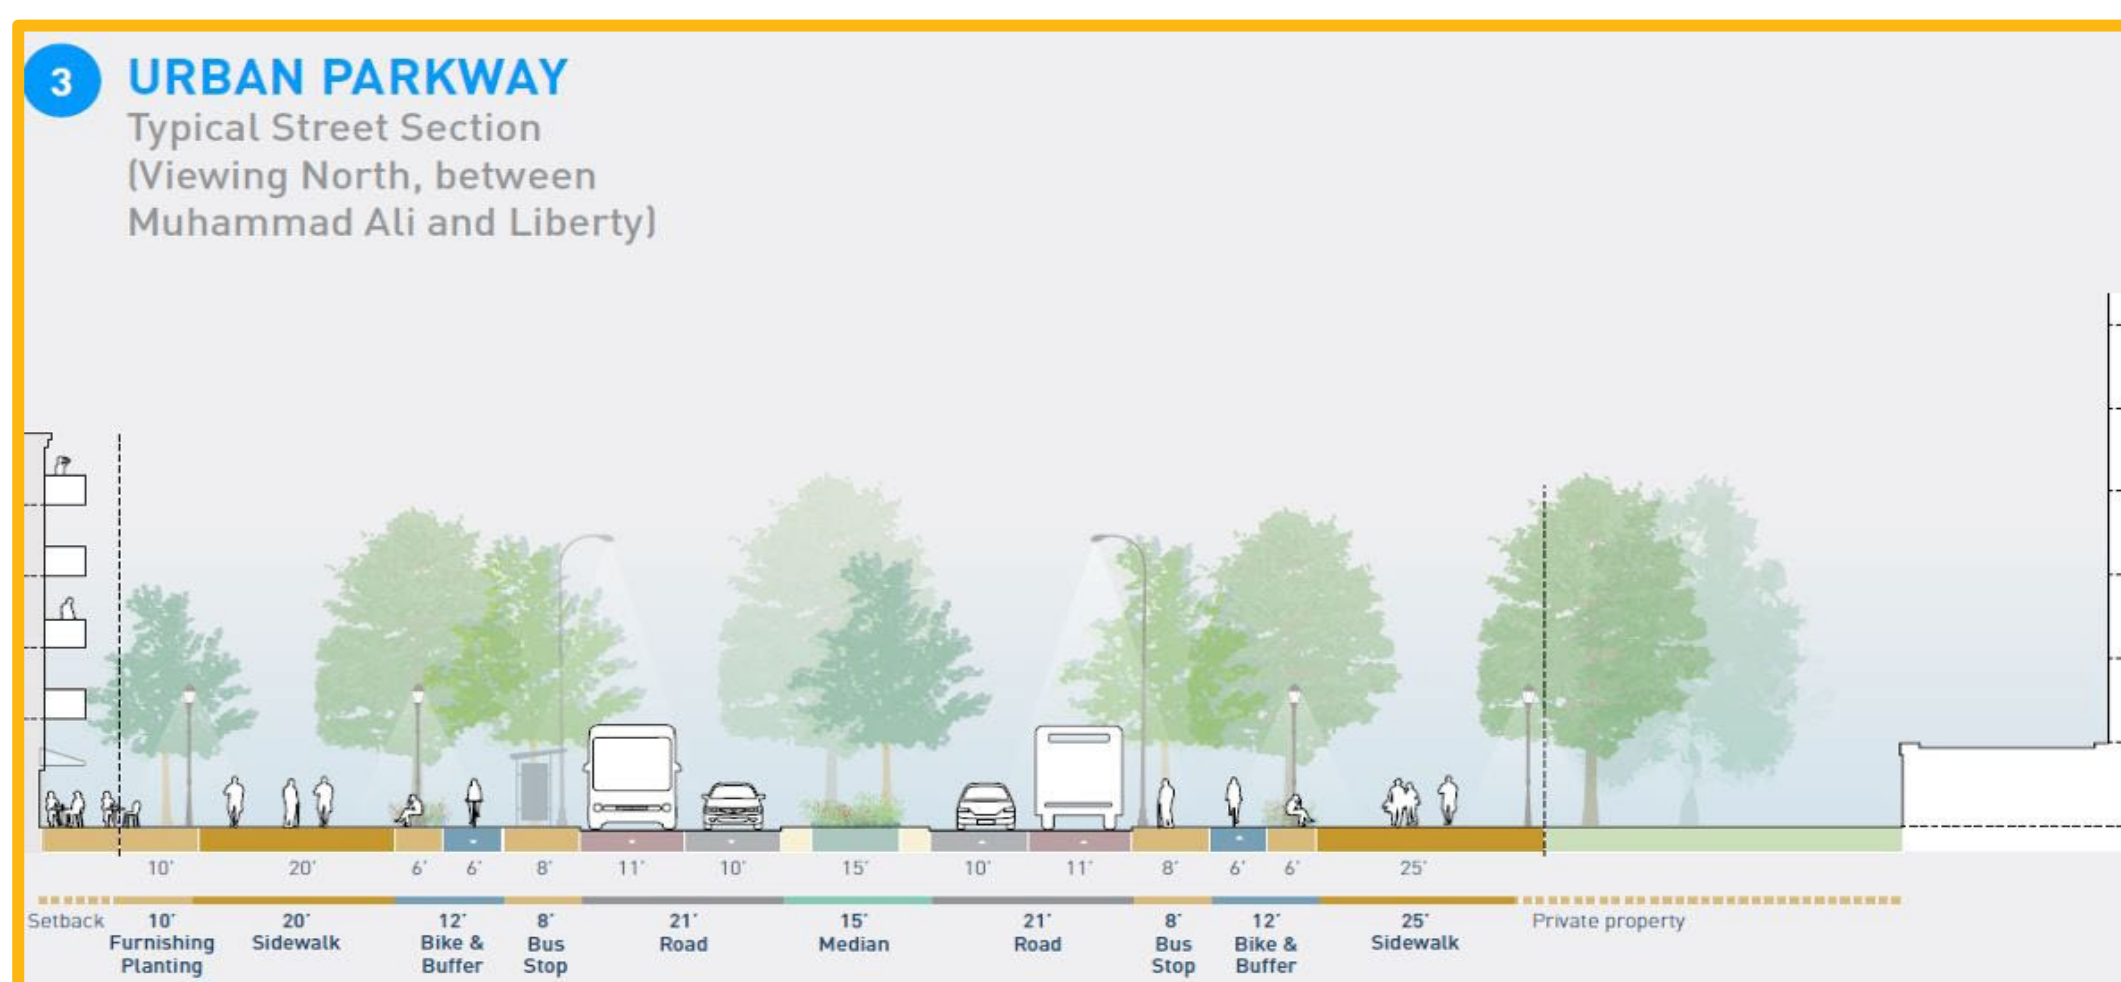

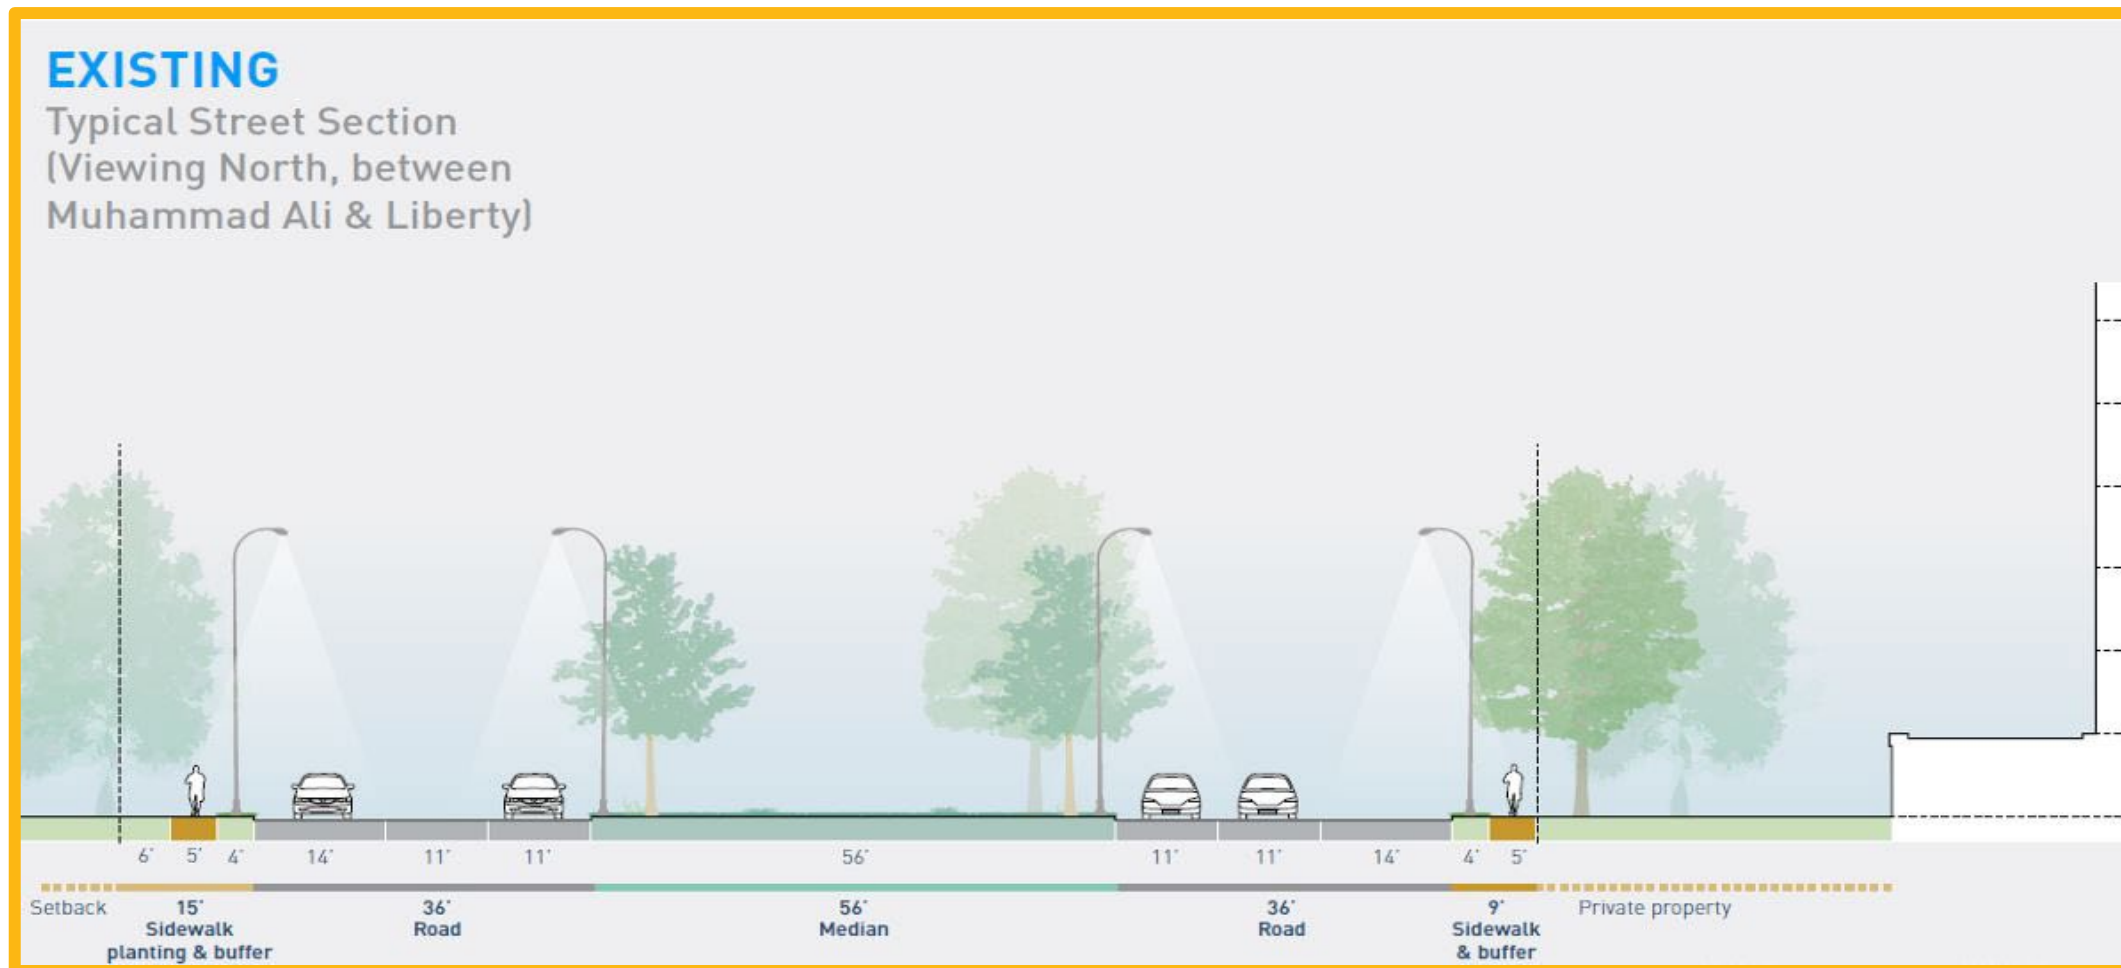

"We must do everything in our power to make our roads safer for everyone, regardless of how you travel. Vision Zero is a new way of thinking, and it is achievable. For this reason, I will be working with our Department of Public Works to make Vision Zero a top priority."

- Mayor Craig Greenberg

The Big Four Bridge is a pedestrian and bicycle bridge spanning the Ohio River, connecting Louisville and Jeffersonville, Indiana. More than a million people visit the Big 4 every year. CycLOUvia is a popular open streets event that transforms major city streets into car-free spaces for people to bike, walk, and play. The event brings together people of all ages and backgrounds to celebrate healthy, sustainable transportation to promote community engagement and support local businesses.

Reimagine 9th Street

This USDOT R.A.I.S.E. Implementation Project will transform 9th Street from a six-lane thoroughfare into a Complete Street with a large pedestrian zone, with bicycle facilities and bus lanes, green infrastructure, and appealing public spaces. The project will convert one-way traffic to two-way on Muhammad Ali Boulevard and Chestnut Street/River Park Drive.

This Complete Streets project emphasizes safe, affordable transportation options while encouraging economic growth in the surrounding community. Reimagine 9th Street helps reconnect a historically Black underserved community that was divided by this six-lane highway, and the conversion of two other streets from one-way to two-way will improve safety by slowing traffic.
